Hello Jason,

Hope this finds you well.

Following up, we had a meeting with the dealership and due to their corporate policies they can't keep setting aside this unit without billing it.

The agreement with them is that once your mexican company is formally established, we will get a new 2022 BMW 320i Pythonic Blue. They will try to maintain the price of the quotation attached to the previous email, in which case it would only be needed to cover the difference between the initial payment and the final price.

I will keep in touch in case you have any doubts.

Kind regards,

Arturo Márquez Sánchez

Hi Jason,
Hope all is well.

Following up here. Attached you'll find the revised quotation for the car, considering that it wasn't invoiced last month.

The good news is that the dealer maintained the original discount and they'll change the car for the 2022 model, which is great. With the initial payment that was made for 2021, there is a difference to cover of $ 16,182.00 MXN.

Hope you can let me know when the Mexican company is ready and when this additional payment can be made so the invoice can be issued.

Hello Jason,

I'm reaching you to follow up the billing of the BMW that is still pending. The car must be invoiced before May 31st, in order to keep the commercial benefits given by the dealership; if not, the price may increase. I'll check with the dealership what'll be the exact costs in case the car is not invoiced this month and get back to you.

We have the following options:

- Billing to a foreign company. Which could be Gaming Technologies, Inc. or any other of your choice. In case it's Gaming Technologies, we are still missing the Legal representative's ID, and the Proof of Address. On the other hand if you choose to use any other company we will require the following information:

- Constitutive documents.
- Legal representative's ID.
- Tax Identification Number
- Proof of Address
- Bank Information

- Billing to a mexican company (easier way). Under this scenario we could issue it to Big Bola Casino, in which case we will need the same following information:

- Constitutive documents.
- Legal representative's ID.
- Tax Identification Number
- Proof of Address
- Bank Information

Please let me know if you have any questions, because we need to solve this as soon as possible.

Kind regards,

Arturo Márquez Sánchez
